

Welcome

Dear Visitors,

Let me welcome you to the renewed website of the BRTK Library. I trust that after spending some time on our website you will also visit our Library. Our building satisfies all the requirements that can arise in the 21st century. We are striving to fill its form with content. Apart from offering more than 180,000 documents, CDs, DVDs, books and newspapers to borrow, we are also organizing events for both our young and our adult visitors. We are working on bringing the ivory tower down – our institution is a lively and eventful place. This is a public area in the heart of the city that provides opportunities not only for reading, talking and Internet browsing, but also for developing communities. Me and my colleagues are looking forward to welcoming you in our Library, a place to relax, recreate, and escape from the maddening noise of our times. Visit us! We are looking forward to your visit!

Emőke Kovács, PhD

director

BRTK Library and Kálmán Imre Memorial House